over a century of leadership in salt

Cheetham Salt products have been sold in Australia and internationally for more than 100 years. Company history begins in 1888 and since then Cheetham Salt has become Australia's largest manufacturer of natural solar salt products for food and industrial markets.

Cheetham uses natural seawater, lake brines and other saline waters as the primary input to salt production. Solar evaporation contains the sustainable energy of the sun and the wind to produce high quality salt.

Cheetham Salt is committed to conducting its business in ways that protect and, where possible, enhance the environment. This commitment extends to our relationships with our employees, customers, contractors, regulatory authorities and the community.

As a minimum standard we will comply with all applicable environmental legislation, regulations and other applicable requirements designed to prevent pollution and preserve environmental conditions. Where practicable, we will go beyond regulatory compliance and strive to achieve best environmental practice in all that we do.

We will develop, implement and continually improve work practices that enable us to identify, assess and control risks, set achievable targets and ensure we have the necessary skills and technology available to meet or exceed the expectations of the community in which we operate. The systems developed will be appropriate to the nature, scale and environmental impacts of its activities, products and services,

To ensure compliance with this policy, we will monitor our environmental performance and act expeditiously on matters requiring action. We will report on our performance and ensure that any incidents are given the highest level of attention.

At least annually, we will review our environmental system developed as part of the implementation of this policy in keeping with our commitment to ensuring we operate our business in an environmentally responsible way.
